

Aims of the School Direct Partnership

To have effective and committed members of the teaching profession who will achieve Qualified Teacher Status and a Post Graduate Certificate in Educational Practice at the highest level.

To provide a range of education, training and practical teaching experiences to develop teachers of the highest calibre, informed by reflective practice and research.

To guide trainees through professional experiences within a challenging, valued and supportive network of schools called the Windsor Schools' Partnership.

To ensure that trainees develop respectful values and pedagogical practices that will enable them to become committed, accomplished teachers with high standards of integrity and moral leadership.

To maintain high standards in training, mentoring and coaching through informed, open and honest conversations within our community, where trainees have a sense of purpose and take responsibility for their own professional development.

To value diversity and offer equality of opportunities regardless of their background, culture or physical impairment. and to adopt respectful practices towards colleagues.
